White House report criticizes China's economic policies, human rights violations

PUBLISHED THU, MAY 21 202012:31 AM EDT

For several decades, we thought the regime would become more like us — through trade, scientific exchanges, diplomatic outreach, letting them in the World Trade Organization as a developing nation. That didn't happen," he said.

"Since the 1980s, Beijing has signed multiple international agreements to protect intellectual property. Despite this, more than 63 percent of the world's counterfeits originate in China, inflicting hundreds of billions of dollars of damage on legitimate businesses around the world," the report said.

In late 2018, however, the U.S. and a dozen other countries reported that China was hacking computers to target intellectual property and steal business information.
